hfnewsletter@yahoo.com

Welcome to the September 2003 edition. We welcome aboard a number of new subscribers this month from around the world. We're glad to have you on board.

I'd like to thank everyone who took the time to send in comments about my rant from last month about the poor contribution rate to the Newsletter. Things have certainly picked up this month. If you have sent in material recently and it doesn't appear this month, it is most likely because it has been held over for next month. It seems that so many of you felt guilty for taking but not giving information in the past. As a result, we have too much material to include it all in this issue. That doesn't mean the rest of you shouldn't continue to send along material though.

In this month's Special Zone, we mark the second anniversary of the September 11, 2001 tragedies in New York, Washington and Pennsylvania. I have included a few special memorial sites that I found on the web which mark the day in their own unique ways. I'm sure each and every one of us has our own vivid memories as well.

Cooler nights and shorter days are the rule of thumb here in Montreal. Fall is quickly approaching. It's always one of my favourite times of the year. I hope you are enjoying yourself, wherever in the world you may be.

THE MONTHLY SURVEY

Last month's survey question generated very little reaction. Only 16 people responded to the question, If you could be anything you wanted to be in the world; hold any type of job or position that you wished, what would you be?

Only three professions garnered more than one vote. On-air radio personality, meteorologist and rock musician each received two votes.

THIS MONTH'S SURVEY

As was suggested in a few of the comments received recently, I'd like to try to find out a little bit more about the demographics of our readership. So, what better time to start than now, with a very basic question which every single one of you reading this should be able to take the time to answer. How old are you? We'll break it down into age groups:

a) 18 years old or under
b) 19 to 25 years old
c) 26 to 35 years old
d) 36 to 45 years old
e) 46 to 55 years old
f) 56 to 65 years old
g) 66 years old or older

Please send your response, by e-mail, to hfnewsletter@yahoo.com

THE COMMENTS ZONE

Leonard Coombs, Wisconsin: Thank you for the push on sending favorite sites in to you. I think we have a tendency sometimes to sit back and enjoy things without thinking that maybe we should participate and begin giving instead of always taking. I enjoy your newsletter and look forward to receiving it. You do a great job and are to be commended. Thank you.

John Fisher, North Chelmsford, Massachusetts: I guess it's time I got off my ass and sent something in, as I have gotten so much out of the column (Newsletter).

Chris Brand, Cheshire, England: I just received my first HF newsletter and am greatly impressed by it (although saddened by the concern over lack of contributors). I've heard you on and off on RCI for years. A great job you do there too.

David Shindler,??: You are doing a great job and I'm sure your readers appreciate your efforts. But it would be good to figure out who is actually reading the newsletter. There are also other things you could do such as decreasing the frequency of the newsletter to every other month or quarterly, but that could in fact further decrease interest. Maybe you should do a survey of some type about the future of the site and see what the response is. Perhaps it's time to make a fundamental change in some other way, and that needs more thought and discussion

THE CONTRIBUTORS ZONE

As I mentioned earlier, our contributors' list is much more healthy this month. Thanks to 12 people, including a few first time contributors, who took the time to share websites with us. I hope we can see this number continue to grow.

THE MONTHLY SPECIAL ZONE

911 VICTIMS

http://911victims.com/

This site is dedicated to the men, women and children who lost their lives. It continues to grow in content as more about those lost on September 11th is added regularly.

AFTER SEPTEMBER 11 -- IMAGES FROM GROUND ZERO

http://www.911exhibit.com/

Within a few days of the September 11, 2001 attack on the World Trade Center in New York, the Museum of the City of New York engaged the noted photographer Joel Meyerowitz to create an archive of the destruction and recovery at Ground Zero and the immediate neighborhood. The 9/11 Photographic Archive will eventually number more than 5,000 images and will become part of the permanent collections of the Museum of the City of New York where it will be available for research, exhibition, and publication.

THE SEPTEMBER 11 DIGITAL ARCHIVES

http://911digitalarchive.org/

This site uses electronic media to collect, preserve, and presents the history of the September 11, 2001 attacks in New York, Virginia, and Pennsylvania and the public responses to them.

911 HISTORY

THE RADIO ZONE

THE MEDIUMWAVE ALLIANCE

http://www.part15.org/mwa/lobby.html

VIA Sheldon Harvey, Greenfield Park, Quebec

Medium Wave Alliance (established 1 October 1997) is a loose confederation of people who are interested in receiving or transmitting unorthodox signals on medium wave frequencies (the AM broadcast band). This includes, among other topics, very low power unlicensed broadcasting that is legal in some countries (e.g. under the Part 15 rules in the US). The purpose of MWA is to help radiophiles share information about these activities and to encourage more people to participate.

EUROPEAN MEDIUM WAVE GUIDE

http://www.emwg.info/

VIA Chris Brand, Cheshire, England

On these pages you will find all information about this publication. You can also download the latest edition as a PDF file. You can choose various subjects you need from the menu on the left of the web page.

THE AIRWAVES OF NEW YORK

http://patriot.net/~croft/AIRWAVES/airwaves.htm

VIA Sheldon Harvey, Greenfield Park, Quebec

This is a companion site to a book of the same name dealing with the history of 156 AM radio stations in the New York City area from 1921 to 1996.

CHRIS BRAND'S DX INTERNATIONAL

http://members.lycos.co.uk/chrisbrand1977/

VIA Chris Brand, Cheshire, England

The site looks at many aspects of broadcasting, specializing in international radio. It is home to various radio information; Internet radio, old receivers, QSL cards, and a selection of articles written for the communications press.

DENNIS MITCHELL'S BREAKFAST WITH THE BEATLES

http://www.beatlesradioshow.com

VIA Sheldon Harvey, Greenfield Park, Quebec

This is the longest-running weekly Beatles' tribute show anywhere. You can listen to the show anytime you want by using a built-in player. Check out the cool features while enjoying the latest program.

AN UNOFFICIAL GUIDE TO "JUST A MINUTE"

http://www.geocities.com/deanbedford/jam.html

VIA Bill Westenhaver, Montreal, Quebec

This site details the history of the BBC quiz show, but it also has statistics about how often various guests have appeared and, last but not least, transcripts of more than 400 episodes of "Just a minute," with apparently more transcripts being added as time goes on. The gentleman who puts this site together (from his e-mail address, he's in New Zealand) is obviously quite a fan of the show, to say the least.

2003 HURRICANE FREQUENCIES

http://www.ominous-valve.com/hurrlist.txt

Hugh Stegman NV6H, Culver City, California

There are always plenty of radio frequencies used during the annual hurricane season. This extremely helpful list is compiled by Mr. Stegman, and has been updated to August 25th.

FINNISH DXING

http://www.dxing.info/video/DX_on_CNN.ram

VIA David Ross, Hamilton, Ontario

Here is a worthy item. See Finish Dxers in action at a Dxpedition with a video clip from CNN. You'll need an audio/video player to see this one.

FORGOTTEN NEW YORK

http://www.forgotten-ny.com/

VIA Yahoo Weekly Picks

Instead of the usual tourist traps, this site shares the quirky, lesser-known side of the Big Apple and its environs. Visit classic diners, Victorian mansions, vintage ads and signs, and cobblestone back streets that remain from a bygone era. Odd bits of New York history are remembered here, from an abandoned subway tunnel Walt Whitman wrote about in the 1840s to psychedelic crockery plastered on East Village lampposts in the 1990s. Both local and world histories are featured in the countless statues of famous and formerly famous folks in Central Park. Through this special guided tour of New York, you can take a trip back in time while never leaving the modern city.

IMAGING EVEREST

http://imagingeverest.rgs.org/Concepts/Virtual_Everest/-1.html

VIA Yahoo Weekly Picks

To mark the anniversary of the first ascent of Mount Everest on May 29, 1953, the Royal Geographical Society (with the Institute of British Geographers) in conjunction with the British Council in Nepal has created an exhibition called Imaging Everest from its collection of approximately 20,000 photographs taken on the nine Mount Everest Expeditions between 1921 and 1953.

HIBERNIA

http://www.hibernia.ca/index.html

VIA Sheldon Harvey, Greenfield Park, Quebec

Learn all about the Hibernia offshore oil project off of Canada's east coast. This site gives you all the details of the project, together with an excellent picture gallery of the operation.

THE DEEP SEA

http://oceanlink.island.net/oinfo/deepsea/deepsea.html

VIA Sheldon Harvey, Greenfield Park, Quebec

The deep sea layers of our oceans are where the really neat stuff is found. To learn about some representative organisms in these other layers and the adaptations they need to survive there, click on the ocean layer you want to investigate. Great photos and some pretty bizarre creatures are found here.

GLOBEMASTER U.S. MILITARY AVIATION

http://www.globemaster.de/

VIA Richard Sim, Goose Bay, Labrador & Newfoundland

This is an aviation Database of US Air Force, US Navy, US Marine Corps, US Coast Guard, US Army Military Bases and Units

AIR ODYSSEY

http://www.airodyssey.net/reference/

VIA Richard Sim, Goose Bay, Labrador & Newfoundland

This is your small aviation cheat sheet. You will find here mostly lists for the codes used in civil aviation, a glossary, a communications basic guide including radio call signs, and even in-flight announcements.

ABE BOOKS

http://www.abebooks.com/

VIA Leonard Coombs, Wisconsin

Although we don't usually include commercial sites in the Newsletter, this one could prove very useful to many subscribers. It is a site devoted to out of print books together with rare ones as well. I found it great for getting some of those old books I enjoyed as a youth for my grandchildren.

This is a great resource for the railroad buffs, with links to railroads, rail museums, rail groups and clubs, historical information, etc.

GEARED STEAM LOCOMOTIVE WORKS

http://www.trainweb.org/gearedsteam/

VIA Ian Thompson, Korbel, California

This is a great resource for those interested in the geared steam locomotives that were used extensively in logging and mining operations from the late 1800s through the mid 1900s. Shays, Heislers, Climaxes, Willamettes... they're all described here, with lots of historical tidbits and photographs.

NEW FROM THE AMERICAN RADIO RELAY LEAGUE:

ARRL's VHF/UHF Antenna Classics
-- Build your own portable, mobile and fixed antenna designs-- ARRL's VHF/UHF Antenna Classics includes antenna project articles gathered from the 1983 to 2003 issues of QST. Designs include ground planes, J-poles, mobile antennas, Yagis and more. Authors include well-known antenna designers such as L. B. Cebik, W4RNL, Dick Stroud, W9SR and Steve Powlishen, K1FO. VHF and UHF antennas are among the smallest and often easiest antennas to build. Many of the projects included in this book require inexpensive parts which you can find at most hardware stores. Build a better antenna for your hand-held radio. Construct a 2-metre Yagi that will rival similar commercial antennas. Build a dual-band vertical for 146 and 445-MHz. The results will be rewarding!

Wikipedia is a multilingual project to create a complete and accurate free content encyclopedia. We started in January 2001 and are currently working on 153932 articles in the English version. Visit the help page and experiment in the sandbox to learn how you can edit any article right now.

SPYCHECKER

http://www.spychecker.com/home.html

VIA Dick Pearce, Brattleboro, Vermont

Sometimes shareware or freeware that you download off the Internet includes spyware--software programs that track your activities on-line and send those results to Internet marketing companies so that ads you see are based on your interests. The problem is that often you won't even know a program has spyware. At this site, you can enter the name of the program you want to download and it'll tell you if it's spy free.
The database is maintained daily. New software is added or removed as needed. Information is gathered from Internet sources, ad companies and reliable sources in the software distribution industry.
Currently, there are almost a thousand indexed software titles.

SPAM ID

http://www.spamid.net/

VIA Mike Brooker, Toronto, Ontario

Here is a good anti-spam site, to help track down the spammers. Copy and paste the headers into the box provided, click "prepare e-mail", and you will get the "abuse" address of the spammer's ISP (usually abuse@[ISP]) where you can complain about the abuse and hope to get the sender's account terminated. Of course, if the ISP is in Korea, Russia or China (the axis of evil when it comes to spam), reporting will do fall.
